

SCISKEW COLLABORATIVE
DACRA GLOBAL SHANGHAI
HEADQUARTERS

SHANGHAI, CHINA

A prototypical working space interior by architectural and design practice sciSKEW Collaborative based in New York, Shanghai, and Singapore. Facing the need to reconcile the triangulated geographies, the disparities between the different cities have become the raw material that feeds the firm's work. sciSKEW seeks to create architectures that can bridge, critique, and translate between systems and societies. The work ranges from installations, residential and commercial developments, to master planning.

NEXTDOOR

AMSTERDAM, NETHERLANDS

Nextdoor is a temporary interior design for the Center of Amsterdam School of Entrepreneurship (CASE). CASE is part of the University of Amsterdam. Following a new educational program students from different fields here get the opportunity to start up their own business, and develop a business concept and market strategy with the support of the university. The brief contained 10 permanent work units and 40 flexible work areas. All furniture and work units have been assembled by low cost standard door elements.
